FOREWORD

WHAT a joy it has been to chronicle in this book the wonderful achievements of a glorious year in the history of Lowell High School!

Our task has been made more pleasant in that this first official year book has appeared in the year marking the one hundreth anniversary of the founding of the city to which we owe so much.

We have writtten not for the present but rather for the future, when we shall turn these pages and conjure up a thousand memories of those wonderful days gone forever.

Dedication

To one who has never been too busily occupied to render personal assistance; to one who has tirelessly labored for the interests of the School; to a true friend and adviser,

HENRY HALE HARRIS

this first volume of Lowell High School Annual is affectionately dedicated.

CLASS HISTORY

In the Fall of 1922 there entered into the Lowell High School a class destined to be the greatest in the history of the school.

The Class of 1926 even during its first year proved to be of great benefit in aiding Lowell High School in its many activities. Especially noticeable were the services which Jack Ryan rendered the football team.

During its sophomore year the Class of 1926 decided to branch into other activities of Lowell High School. In doing this, the class produced the first class debating team within recent years. This team remained undefeated during its career. The high standards maintained by these forensic artists were upheld in athletics by their classmates.

The junior year of this class is indeed a landmark in the history of Lowell High School. It was during this year that the class decided to publish a year book! The reader is the only one to judge the success of this achievement. Also, the Class of 1926 organized during this year. This was the first time a class of the Lowell High School organized before its graduation year. During this year the class was also very well represented in athletics and other activities of the school.

The achievements of this remarkable class have been brought to a fitting climax during the past year. Our football team has met with greater success than ever. The track team has excelled the high standard set by its predecessors. Without a doubt the basketball team has had its most successful year. At the time of this book going to press the success of the baseball team still remains to be seen. It has been during our senior year that the tennis team has been organized. The Student Council has been successfully organized during the past year. The various clubs and societies have never before conducted their respective activities on such a large scale as they have this year. Lack of space prohibits us from enumerating the many detailed accomplishments of this class.

We feel justified in stating, however, that the cap and climax of all our achievements rests in the following facts: That the Class of 1926 successfully started under-graduate class organization, that members of the Class of 1926 were instrumental in organizing the first successful student council in the school, and that the Class of 1926 is the first class to publish an official year book.

CLASS HISTORY

"Juniors! Juniors! Yes, we are the Juniors!"

—And mighty fine Juniors at that! In fact, the Class of 1927 has been a mighty fine class ever since its entrance into the Lowell High School three years ago.

In its infancy, the Class of 1927 showed that it was "alive and kicking," both in athletics and in scholarship. Two of its members, Joseph Reynolds and Nelson Legrand, made "L's" in baseball that year. Several of its members were Star Scholars. Another member of this class, Miss Rosalie Greenbaum, made a name for herself in the Greenhalge Debating Society during this year.

In its Sophomore year, after it had been strengthened by pupils from several Junior High Schools, the Class of 1927 took a big step. It organized itself, with Denis Maguire as President, Gerald Noonan as First Vice-President, Miss Helen Halloran as Second Vice-President, Kenton Speel as Secretary, and Edward Mahoney as Treasurer. The Class of 1927 had several representatives in athletics during that year. Reynolds, Reilly, Keefe, and Moushegian made letters in Football; Reynolds, Whitesides, and Faneros in Basketball; Harrington and Burns in Track. There was a large number of Sophomore Star Scholars.

This year, feeling quite grown up, the Class of 1927 has made a name for itself as the Junior Class. The same Class Officers were elected, with the exception of Miss Halloran. Class Marshals and Committees were selected. They are doing their work very well. The Class Colors selected are Maroon and Gold. Payments are being collected toward the Class Gift. Everything is being carried on splendidly.

The Class of 1927 again has made a fine showing in athletics. Reynolds, Reilly, Farmer, Gorman, Moushegian, MacLean, O'Brien and Winn have won letters in Football; Whitesides, Moushegian and Fipayas in Basketball. Reilly, Harrington and Burns are members of the Record-Breaking Relay Team. Farmer also has made his letter in Track. Nelson Legrand, also a Junior, is Captain of this year's Baseball Team.

During the past school year several members of the Class of 1927 have distinguished themselves among other lines. Miss Queena Douglas, who was the leading lady in the opera "Pepita," is a Junior. Edmund Cheney, who carried the leading role in the annual play, "Merton of the Movies," is a Junior. Other Juniors in the cast of this play were Benjamin Sandler, Gerald Donehue, Paul Hogan, Mary Livingston, and Raymond Daley. Miss Greenbaum has kept up her good work in debating. John MacLaughlin, another Junior, has also been of great assistance to the Greenhalge Debating Society.

By its energetic participation in High School activities, the Class of 1927 has made a name for itself as the "Live-Wire" class. May the Class of 1927 always live up to its name and in so doing continue to be a valuable asset to the Lowell High School!

CONGRATULATIONS

For five years Lowell High School has been a contestant in the International Shorthand Contests conducted annually by the originators of the Gregg Shorthand Method. Thousands of high schools in all parts of the world have competed in these contests. Last year our school won second prize.

Due to the tireless efforts of the shorthand teachers, and owing to the conscientious work of two-hundred-and-three shorthand students, Lowell High School in the 1926 contest, was distinctly honored by receiving first prize.

The students of Lowell High certainly feel proud of the work that the commercial department has accomplished. We wish to offer to Mr. Beach, his teachers, and his students, our most sincere congratulations on their deserved success.

It is indeed inspiring to think that our school ranks first among all the schools in the world in having such distinguished shorthand artists. We hope that the good work of the commercial department may be continued and even bettered, if possible, in the future.

In Memoriam

MABEL ANNETTE PEASE

Mabel came to us from the Morey Grammar School. She was very active in the Girl Reserves at the Y. W. C. A., and was always a cheerful companion among her many friends. She died on April 22, 1926.

EDWARD C. M. MATYKA

Edward entered Lowell High School in September, 1922, as a graduate of the Edson Grammar School. He was here but little more than two months, but demonstrated his willingness to work and serve by becoming a member of the football team. He died on November 22, 1922.

JOHN RYAN

John, a graduate of the Morey Grammar School, was captain of the 1926 football team, was a member of the track squad and was a class marshal. His death has been felt by all his schoolmates, who loved him as a brother, admired him as an athlete, and looked up to him as a leader. He died on November 13, 1925.

CLASS HISTORY

The Class of 1928, since its arrival in Lowell High, has been content to be the retiring and bashful class of the school. For this reason the name of the class has not been spread to any great extent through the school and city. However, we lay claim to having the most intellectual minds in the school. A survey of the school records will fully establish this statement.

In athletics, the Class of 1928 has surely done its duty to the school. The work of the various individuals in this branch of school activity has been creditable, considering the infancy of the class.

The members of the class showed keen judgment in electing the following officers, who have efficiently started the class on a smooth road of progress: J. Walter Langley, President; Edward W. Leary, First Vice-President; Harold A. Sutcliffe, Second Vice-President; Elizabeth V. Blinkhorn, Secretary; J. Vincent Murphy, Treasurer.

The class is also deeply indebted to Mr. Brennon, who, in the capacity of class advisor, has proved to be of inestimable value in managing the affairs of the class.

As a last word we wish to say that the Class of 1928 is satisfied in waiting until its turn comes in its Junior and Senior years before entering into too great a field of activities. When this time comes we are sure that the class will excel all others before it in intellectual ability and service to the school.

CLASS HISTORY

"Great oaks from little acorns grow."

Many years ago a wise philosopher made the above statement. It is just as applicable today, however, as it was when first quoted. For in truth, the Class of 1929 is a small class; but it is so full of determination and vigor that great things are expected of it during its career in Lowell High.

The class has already started moving towards its aim—that of being the best class produced in Lowell High School. This fact will be definitely established by noticing the selection that the class members made in electing officers.

In the meantime we beg our dear readers to notice the achievements that '29 shall make during the next few years.

ALUMNI

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association is an organization worthy of space in our annual. It has grown in every possible way. Individuality has been the keynote of all activities of this association. It has reached one of its goals in procuring for us, for our own activities, Alumni Field. We certainly wish to thank the Alumni Association for the many kind favors they have bestowed upon us during the past four years.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Lowell High School Alumni Association through its Executive Committee some years ago established a Scholarship Fund and established rules and regulations for its administration. From time to time worthy boys and girls have been aided by loans from this fund. It has been and is a source of much gratification and pleasure to the Alumni to be able to assist our School in this department of its activities. At the present there is available for use in this department about six hundred dollars.

THE ALUMNI PLAYERS

It is most fitting to record in this book the history of an overgrowing organization, made up of former players of Lowell High School dramatic productions and alumni, organized for the purposes of fostering, continuing and perpetuating friendships created in the past, plus the desire to present drama of the better sort to the public at large.

On February 26, 1925 a small but enthusiastic group of young people met in the Lowell High School to discuss plans for a proposed dramatic club. Various matters in connection with this proposed club were taken up and discussed. A committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws was appointed. At the next meeting, on March 5th, a large attendance was present. A constitution and by-laws was accepted by the body. Thus was the start of what is at the present time, the most outstanding dramatic organization of Lowell. These young people, who formed this organization, knew full well the good such a society could accomplish in the community, and set out then and there to firmly establish The Alumni Players.

It is needless to go into detail concerning the meetings of this organization for all have been unusually interesting and instructive. Prominent people in dramatics have addressed the players from time to time.

On November 18th, 1925, in the High School Auditorium, The Alumni Players staged their first public dramatic production, at which close to 1200 people were present. Three one-act plays were given on this evening; "Wurzel-Flummery," a comedy by Alexander Milne; "Beauty and the Jacobin," a comedy-drama by Booth Tarkington, and "The Intruder," a mystery play by Maurice Maeterlinck. Each group of players was exceptionally well cast by Miss Mary C. Joyce, the coach of the players. The presentation of the trio of one-act masterpieces created much favorable talk from all sides.

All meetings of the organization, unless otherwise announced, are open to the public. Large gatherings are customary at all meetings. These are held the first and third Mondays of each month.

Miss Mary C. Joyce, coach and honorary member of The Players, has rendered invaluable assistance to the organization, and it is mostly through her untiring efforts, and interest in the Players, that the organization is so successful. She has been the guiding light of these young people.

The present officers of the Players are as follows: President, Charles J. Keyes; Vice-President, Walter L'Esperance; Secretary, Alice W. Sheehan; Treasurer, Kathryn Flahaven; Executive Board, Mary Casey, Margaret Sharkey, Raymond Donovan, Arthur Riley.

Starting from a membership of some 30 young men and women, the organization now boasts of a membership way over the 100 mark, which speaks well for a successful Lowell High School alumni organization, the like of which has been needed for some time.

"MERTON OF THE MOVIES"

This year, "Merton of the Movies," by George Kaufman and Marc Connelly, was the play presented by the students of Lowell High School. Miss Mary C. Joyce, who directed the play, deserves much praise and commendation.

"Merton of the Movies," is the story of the struggle of a simple country lad, Merton Gill, to win fame and fortune as a movie actor. When the play opens, "Merton is found employed in a little country store in Simsbury, Illinois. He is intent on becoming a movie actor, but his fellow pa s, such as Elmer Huff, endeavor to lead him on other paths. While he is doing his best to fight these temptations, he is continually studying the movies with the idea of going into them. He is encouraged in doing this by a village movie fan, Tessie Kearns, who is slightly interested in him. On a Saturday evening, when Merton is closing the store, his employer and guardian, Amos Gashwiler, learns of his interest in the movies and is very indignant. In a burst of his emotions, Merton tells Gashwiler that he is going to Hollywood at any cost and that nothing can stop him.

We next find Merton in the Casting Director's office of the Holden Film Corporation, Hollywood, California. While waiting for a chance to apply for a position, Merton meets with a rude awakening at the hands of the Casting Director and Mr. Rosenblatt, the Movie Director. Undaunted by these occurrences, however, Merton makes a few more advances and while doing so becomes acquainted with The Montague Girl, a young lady, who, together with her father, J. Lester Montague, is trying to earn a living by acting as an extra in all the moving picture studios in Hollywood. She encourages Merton to the extent that he registers with the Casting Director in the hope of securing an opportunity to act. At about the same time Merton is introduced to Mr. Jeff Baird, The Hollywood Comedy King. As Merton despises comedies more than anything else, he gives Mr. Baird a very cold reception. Merton then engages in a conversation with the Montague Girl, in the middle of which they are informed by the Casting Director that Mr. Rosenblatt wishes a number of extras for a picture which is to be taken the next morning. Both Merton and Miss Montague promise to be on hand. Before this act closes, Merton engages in a conversation with Harold Parmalee, a distinguished actor whom he admires greatly, and sees face to face, Beulah Baxter, an actress of great note, with whom he is secretly in love.

After Merton proves a failure as an extra, Jeff Baird informs him that he has stopped making comedies and is about to begin making serious dramas. He offe s Merton the leading role in this so-called first serious picture. Merton gladly accepts and is the centre of much attraction. When the picture is produced, however, Merton discovers, to his great dismay, that he has been playing in a comedy, a kind of picture he despises more than any other. His anger is greatly increased when he is acclaimed the comedy king by the public. Through the efforts of the Montague Girl, Merton is made to realize that his place is in comedies. The story ends by Merton declaring his intentions to marry the Montague Girl.

The work of Edmund Cheney in the part of Merton Gill is above criticism. It was, beyond all shadow of doubt, the best piece of work ever done by a Lowell High student. Miss Viola Brooks in the part of the Montague Girl did admirably well. Her clever portrayal of this difficult role brought forth much praise. The other members of the cast certainly did their part in upholding the reputation that the school has gained through its dramatic productions.

The play required some very elaborate scenes, which were not lacking. The boat scene was extremely beautiful. The lighting effects were also very good.

"PEPITA"

For years it has been the custom for the High School students to give an operetta under the direction of Mr. Blunt. Each year the show is said to be better than the previous one, and this year was no exception. The title of the operetta was "Pepita."

"Pepita" is a modern comedy, the scene of which is laid in Mexico.

The principals did remarkably well. Queena Douglas, '27, took the leading role, Pepita. Her soprano voice charmed the audience from the beginning to end.

Joseph Sharkey, '26, played opposite Miss Douglas, in the character of Carlos. He was a charming lover, and with his marvelous tenor voice he serenaded the entire audience as well as Pepita.

Edward Allard, '25, took the part of an American millionaire. He acted very well, while his several musical numbers were very good. Gladys Bechard, '26, taking the part of Felipa, played opposite Mr. Allard. The audience enjoyed her beautiful contralto voice, particularly when she sang "Oh Silent Moon."

The part of the comedian was taken by William Huse,'26. The only fault to find with his singing was that he did not sing enough.

Charlotte Corlew, '26, the American's sister, acted with charm.

Joseph Urbanek, '26, was the owner of an inn, and father of Filipa. He has a good baritone voice, and with the others, deserves much credit, as does Robert Timmins, '26, as Romero, the smuggler.

The chorus, which contained over one hundred voices, must not be forgotten. Composed of village maids and young men, it added color and gayety to the performance.

Last, but not least, we mention the Lowell High School Orchestra. It accompanied each of the solos, as well as playing between the acts.

Boy Officers' Ball

On the evening of January 15, the officers of the Boys' Regiment held their thirty-fifth annual ball in Coburn Hall. The hall was strikingly decorated in red, white and blue.

In a cosy corner were seated the matrons, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Conway, Miss Joyce, Miss Dowd and Miss McCarthy. The Grand March was the feature of the evening. It was led by Captain Wendell Sinclair, Regimental Adjutant, and Miss Arlene Warren; second in line were Captain Edward O'Sullivan and Miss Elizabeth O'Sullivan. The march broke into a waltz. Leo Daly's orchestra furnished the music.

Girl Officers' Ball

One of the big social events of the year was the Girl Officers' Ball. For thirty years it has been the custom for the Officers of the Girls' Battalion to hold a ball. This year, it was held on Friday evening, February 12.

The decorations were very attractive, being red and white. They were very appropriate for the Valentine season. The matrons' corner added much to the beauty. Some pretty figures were made in the Grand March, which was led by Major Caroline Stevens and Gordon Mackay, and Major Evangeline DeLorme and Frank Carey. The matrons were, Miss Webster, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Robbins, Miss Watson, Miss Tobin, Miss Hogan, Miss Leggat, Miss Ryan and Miss Lawler. Ray McKittrick's Orchestra furnished the music.

Excerpts from a Graduate's Diary

September 14—School opens! We, as Seniors, at last come into our own. The Freshmen, this year, are as green as ever. We find the school filled to its capacity, with an enrollment of about 2700 pupils. Seven teachers have been added to our Faculty. They are Miss Ethel Hale, Miss Christine Kane, Miss Loretta Mahoney, Miss Helen Mulcahey, Miss Helen Walker, Mr. William O'Brien and Mr. Edwin Markham.

September 23—For the first time as Seniors, the good old Class of '26 assembles in the C. W. Irish Auditorium.

September 24—The Junior class assembled today for the first time this year. It will have to step some to come up to us!

October 5—The P. G.'s hold the first afternoon dance of the school year. A good time was had by all.

October 13—Columbus Day is observed by consecutive assemblies. An interesting program was given.

October 14—The class officers, who so ably managed the Class of '26 last year, are re-elected today.

October 20—Junior class election is held today.

October 22—At consecutive assemblies held today in the Auditorium, Mr. Dhalwani, a native of India, gives a very interesting talk on "The Social Life and Customs of India." He is accompanied by his wife and child. The Spanish Club holds a social. Mr. Romero of Boston pleases the audience by an interesting talk in conjunction with a pleasant musical program.

October 29—The Review Staff places on sale its first issue. The edition is very interesting and is given a fine reception by the students. The Girl Officers hold a masquerade party in the Gym.

October 27—Navy Day is observed by consecutive assemblies. The assemblies are addressed by Lieutenant Howard C. Marshall of the United States Navy.

October 28—Mr. Clendenin, known throughout the United States for his work in connection with charity organizations, addresses consecutive assemblies on the Community Chest.

November 11—Armistice Day exercises are held in the Auditorium with an appropriate program.

November 12—Sophomore Class elections are held today.

November 20—Lowell High is open to visitors today. The "open house" plan proves very successful.

November 25—The second issue of the Review is out today. The Spanish Club holds a dance in the afternoon.

November 26—Thanksgiving Day! Much affected by the loss of its departed Captain and greatly hindered by the absence of "Joey" Reynolds, the good old Lowell Team once more tastes the bitter sting of defeat at the hands of our friendly rivals, Lawrence High. Our Band, however, makes up for the loss of the team by presenting, in an efficient manner, a series of well-played songs.

November 27—Miss Joyce and Mr. Blunt present the annual Vaudeville Show.

December 2—Freshmen Class elections are held.

December 11—The Science Club visits the Lowell Gas Light Company's plant and is served a delicious luncheon by the Gas Light Company officials.

December 18—The Commercial Council girls are the guests of the Bank Trustees at their Christmas party. A very pleasant evening is spent in playing games, while an excellent entertainment is given.

December 18—Christmas Vacation.

December 31—A moving picture, "The Light of the World," is shown in the Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium by the Science Club. This picture is both interesting and instructive.

January 1—New Year's Day. No school.

January 4—The three members of the Class of 1926, Jeanette Rousell, Thomas Smith and William Trull, who successfully presented "The Finger of God" before the student body, again present it before the Alumni Players.

January 4—Junior Class meeting. President Maguire names the various committees for the year.

January 6—"Pepita" is presented under Mr. Blunt's direction.

January 15—The annual Boy Officers' Ball is held. Coburn Hall is tastefully decorated in red, white and blue. The Grand March is led by Captain Wendell Sinclair.

January 29-30—The annual High School play, "Merton of the Movies," is held in the C. W. Irish Auditorium. The entire cast does justice to the play.

February 2—Senior Class meeting takes place. The subject of rings is again brought up. A heated argument follows.

February 3—The members of the sewing classes have their second annual fashion show during the two recesses. The show is mighty good. The orchestra favors us with music.

February 5—Under the auspices of the Science Club, Professor L. W. Elder of Harvard College gives a very interesting lecture on "Liquid Air," in the Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium. Some excellent experiments are performed. A large number attend this interesting lecture.

February 5—Junior Class meeting. Maroon and gold are chosen for class colors.

February 9—Henry J. (Sailor) Ryan of Melrose adresses the entire school on the importance of education. A flashlight picture of the assembly is taken.

February 12—The Girl Officers' Ball, the prettiest party thus far this year, is held in Coburn Hall. The hall is artistically decorated in red and white. Old time dances, as well as modern, are enjoyed.

February 13—The entire cast of "Merton of the Movies" enjoys a trip to Boston. The members attend "The Poor Nut," which is playing at the Hollis Theatre, after which they are served a dinner at the Brunswick Hotel.

February 15—A very successful dance is held by the Greek Club.

February 17—In a debate with Haverhill High School at Haverhill, the first debate of the season, the Lowell team wins the unanimous decision of the judges. A beautiful cup is presented the Lowell team.

February 19—Assembly. A motion picture on the life of Alexander Hamilton is shown.

February 19—In the annual competitive drill of the Lowell High School Regiment, Captain Gordon MacKay wins the Colonel's position.

February 19-March 1—Vacation.

February 27—Lowell wins the Lawrence track meet. Sophos makes a new record in the broad jump.

March 1—Centennial Exercises. The entire school assembled in the Memorial Auditorium in order to observe the hundredth anniversary of the founding of Lowell. The band plays excellent music. The boy officers usher.

March 5—The Senior and Freshman boys hold an exhibition drill in the Auditorium. Many difficult feats are performed. Again the High School orchestra furnishes high grade music.

March 11—The Science Club brings to the school the motion picture, "Revelation by X-Ray." It is very instructive.

March 17—The Senior Day Commitetee holds a dance in Coburn Hall. The proceeds go to the "Senior Day" fund.

April 3—The Science Club enjoys an interesting trip to the Navy Yard in Charlestown. They are shown through several of the ships. After they have seen all that is to be seen, they go into Boston, where they have dinner.

April 7—Consecutive Assemblies are held. James Lindquist, '26, addresses his schoolmates in regard to the Student Council. He gives several suggestions for the carrying on of Student Government.

April 8—The Junior Class holds its social for the year. The officers of the class have charge of the affair, and the class as a whole cooperate remarkably well.

April 16—The Spanish Club is again successful in gathering a large crowd at an afternoon dance.

April 19—Patriots Day. No School. The baseball team makes its first appearance in a game with the Alumni. As there are only two former veterans playing, the team proves a little too weak for the Alumni.

April 22—Lowell tries hard to beat the Boston High School of Commerce, but finds it too difficult a task.

April 26-May 3—Vacation.

April 26—Boys' Drill Night.

May 1—Again the baseball team appears on the field ready to win from Havelhill; and again it is defeated.

May 21—Senior Prom—one of the big social affairs of the year. Those who do not go miss the best time of their lives. Coburn Hall is prettily decorated in colors appropriate for the season. The music is furnished by Leo Daly's Orchestra. The matrons in their cosy corner, the girls in their beautiful party dresses and the boys in their neat suits make a pretty sight for the onlookers.

May 28—Field Day. Field day as usual is the big day for all the students. 1st Major Caroline Stevens and Colonel Gordon MacKay head the parade. The band shows its remarabkle ability. The field work is about the same as in previous years.

May 26—The Junior issue of the "Review" appears. The jokes are good, and also the Literary section. Of course the Juniors think it the best issue of the year.

June 9—Greek Club Social. The Greek Club holds its final social for the year. During intermission, President Frank Carey presents to the school, in behalf of thte Greek Club, a statue of a Greek goddess.

June 23—Graduation!

The Work of the French Department

At the beginning of the school sessions in September there were 1220 students taking French as a study and nine teachers of this subject. Miss Adelaide Baker, who was Head of the Department for twenty-five years, resigned in February, 1926, and was succeeded by Miss Emma Bradley.

Under the guidance of Miss Baker the department prospered amazingly. During the World War, the scholars of the French Department worked for the Red Cross, after which they contributed to the Marne Memorial, the restoration of the Louvain University, and the Belleau Wood Memorial. It is interesting to note that the name of the Lowell High School is inscribed in the library of the new Louvain University as a recognition of the department's contribution.

When the new Lowell High School was opened, the French Department once more came to the front and purchased eighty-five dollars' worth of French books, which were placed in the School Library.

This year the scholars were asked to give a small contribution for the purpose of helping purchase a wreath for the tomb of the French Unknown Soldier, which is situated under the Arc de Triomphe, in Paris. They responded willingly, the result being that a magnificent wreath, two metres wide, was ordered by Mr. MacDougal Halkes, President of the "Institut Francaise," who represented the Lowell High School in France. On Armistice Day, 1925, the wreath was laid on a conspicuous spot, occupying one entire corner of the tomb.

Since the presentation of the wreath, the department has participated in many programs in the Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium, entertaining with French songs sung by groups of French students.

To their leader, Miss Baker, the students of French this year, and years to come owe their lasting thanks for her great service, that of firmly establishing the French Department as one of the premier departments of the Lowell High School.

Under the new and capable leadership of Miss Bradley, it is hoped that the department will win more honors that will keep it in the forefront of school activities.

LOWELL HIGH
Military

Our Military Departments

Lowell High School is very fortunate in having two unique and unusual departments which have proved of great value to both the school and city. These departments are called The Lowell High School Regiment and The Lowell High School Girls' Battalion. One rarely thinks of the Lowell High School without associating either the Regiment or the Girls' Battalion with his or her thoughts.

The Lowell High School Regiment is a military unit consisting of Sophomore, Junior and Senior boys. It is commanded by student officers. The various officers' positions are filled on the same basis as they are in the regular United States army.

The Lowell High School Girls' Battalion is the department through which the Lowell High School girls receive their physical education. This department is also military in design. It is under the command of certain girls of the Senior Class who are elected by means of examination held in the latter part of their Junior year.

The important events connected with both of these organizations are as follows:

Field Day
Regimental Staff Examination
Girls' Gym Night
Regimental Night

In the ensuing pages we shall treat the above events to the best of our ability and with the earnest hope that in the years to come they will bring back fond memories of the school and friends.

FIELD DAY

Company E, that company which one judge in the officers' examination said was the best company he had ever watched, again took honors at the annual field day of the Lowell High School Regiment and Girls' Batallions held Thursday, May 28, on the South Common. The company was judged the best company of the Regiment. Company C was second and Company G won the prize for presenting the best appearance. The individual prize drill was won by Sergeant A. N. Rodrigues, with Private W. A. Walker in second place.

Although at times during the morning and afternoon, the skies were overcast, and it appeared as though Field Day exercises might be interrupted by rain, the day proved ideal for the affair. The sun was not too hot, nor was it cloudy enough to make the weather anything but suitable.

A crowd of 10,000 people gathered on the South Common, shutting in on all sides the large space set off as a parade ground. These thousands of people remained during the entire exercises, which were concluded shortly after 4.30 in the afternoon, much earlier than has been the custom in past years.

The massing of the boys and girls in front of the stands, all facing the flag pole at the west side of the parade ground, was the opening number of the afternoon's program. Every rifle at "present-arms," every hand lifted in salute, the boys and girls and thousands of spectators stood as the flag was raised and the massed bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The afternoon closed with regimental dress parade and presentation of prizes to the boys of the regiment who had successfully participated in the various competitions.

Mayor John J. Donovan, who had been present throughout the entire drill, presented the officers their commissions and the winners their prizes.

The judges of the military competition were: Capt. Harry Dunlap Brown, Capt. James J. Kelly, Capt. Albert J. Kelly, Capt. George D. Crowell, Lt. Perry D. Thompson and Lt. Timothy M. Tully, all of the United States Army.

The Field Day of the Lowell High School is undoubtedly one of the spectacular occasions of the year. For sheer beauty and entertainment it cannot be surpassed. Not only is it of interest to the city, but it is also known throughout the entire country as one of the most successful expositions of physical training work conducted anywhere in the United States.

Regimental Staff Examination

No single event in the entire school curriculum is of such general interest as is the Regimental Staff Examination. More members of the student body are engaged in keen rivalry for the coveted honors in this drill than in any other branch of school activities.

The Regimental Staff Examination took place this year in the middle of February, following five months of instruction and practice. The month was filled with extra drills and a great deal of hard work was done by the officers and their companies. At this time the companies were really at their best because the incentive to drill well was greater than at any other time during the year.

This year the Regiment was bigger than ever before, there being fifteen companies in all. Company R had between sixty and seventy men, while many of the other companies had six squads of eight men each besides the officers. This condition made necessary one more battalion, making four in all. For the first time in the history of the school four Majors, besides the Colonel and Lieutenant-Colonel, were needed.

The highest honors this year went to Company L, under Captain Gordon MacKay. Captain MacKay took the title of Colonel of the Regiment. Captain Walsh of Company B, became Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment. Captain Sullivan of Company R became Major of the First Battalion. Captain Smith of Company G, Major of the Second Battalion. Captain Ryan of Company C, Major of the Third Battalion and Captain Quigley of Company N, Major of the Fourth Battalion. The remaining companies placed in the following order: H, E, A, F, M, O, D, I.

OFFICERS OF THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT

Colonel, Gordon C. MacKay; Lieutenant Colonel, Raymond T. Walsh; Majors, Daniel F. Sullivan, Thomas J. Smith, David J. Ryan, Gerald F. Quigley; Regimental Adjutant and Captain Wendell B. Sinclaire; Regimental Quartermaster and Captain, Edward T. O'Sullivan.

Captains, Timothy A. Kennedy, Edmund K. Cheney, Elliot C. Perrin, John R. Guenard, Ernest P. M. Pearsall, Russell C. Pratt, Randolph F. Ryder, George P. Gervais, Dennis J. Dwyer, Henry C. Speel, Nathan H. Marmar, Guildford O. Drake, Gordon Calkins, Lewis H. Maddocks, Jr., John H. Pearson.

Lieutenants, Verne D. Bradish, James J. Keane, Walter L. McGee, Joseph F. Burtt, Harold J. Davis, Allan M. Maguire, Richard L. Eigenbrot, Kirke H. Dunlap, Arthur F. Gallagher, Kendall W. Gordon, Clarence E. Cunningham, Jr., Alan A. Atkinson, Richard M. Smith, Julian C. Moody, Ernest M. Berry, Charles H. F. Leduc, Wilfred E. Duckworth, Herbert G. A. Schliebus, Leonard Novick, Joseph P. Kenefick, Robert M. Kennedy, Morris Kaplan, Henry S. Santos, John N. Higgins, Alvin N. Moorehouse, G. Donald Ingham, Dennis F. Maguire, Clarence W. Hope, Stephen A. Markiewicz, Eugene W. Clark, Kenneth A. Cameron, Warren C. Lahue, Stanley J. Pacula, Wilfred R. Hemmerly, Francis P. McGee.

Regimental Night

The 12th annual Regimental Night of the Lowell High School Regiment was held Friday evening, April 23, 1926, in the High School Annex. The program provided was excellent and it contained many new and welcome features.

The entertainment for the evening was opened by a concert by the Regimental Band under the directorship of John J. Giblin. The annual competitive squad drill followed, in which four squads, the pick of the regiment engaged. The winning squad came from Company L, Corporal Ralph Payne. Besides the usual prizes, each man in this squad was presented with a pound box of candy, Major Kittredge's personal gift.

The next event was a new and most welcome addition to the annual program maneuvers. Company R, under the command of Captain John Pearson, came on the floor with packs slung over their shoulders. The boys quickly set up the shelter tents and established camp in a careful and experienced manner which showed the results of long training. During their stay in "camp" several interesting events were held. There was an officers' individual prize drill for which several local firms had donated prizes. Colonel Gordon MacKay placed first, Captain Edward O'Sullivan second, and Major Gerald Quigley third. There was also the usual individual prize drill for cadets. This was won by Sergeant Richard Gray. Sergeant Shamus won second prize, and Private Hogan won third prize. Then followed a tin cup fight between Captains Ernest Pearsall and Edward O'Sullivan. This provoked much merriment amongst the spectators. An exhibition of the Charleston by two boys from the regiment and two girls from the audience took place next. The girls revealed themselves as boys at the close of the dance to the astonishment of the onlookers. "Retreat" and "Call to the Quarters" were played and were then followed by singing in camp. A duet was given by William Battersby and Charles Taylor, who were called on for several encores by their listeners. "Taps" was then blown by the bugler and the lights grew dimmer and dimmer as night approached. Meanwhile Corporal Webster posted the guard which was kept busy by the fellows who were hazing their tent-mates. Then "Reveille" awoke the camp and day once more dawned. This was followed by the best part of the program—in the cadets' eyes—Mess Call and "eats." Camp was then broken and the cadets marched off the floor.

A set of maneuvers which included the Butt's Manual was next executed by the officers under the direction of the colonel.

The final and most inspiring sight of the evening was the dress parade in which Companies I, K and R participated. Major Thomas Smith was the commanding officer of the battalion. The prizes were awarded and presented by Vice-Chairman Rogers of the School Committee.

The judges for the evening were Captain George Crowell, Captain Donald McIntyre and Captain Ariston Barrows. The cadets showed the results of Major Kittredge's excellent instruction and supervision, as well as the earnest efforts of their officers. Altogether, a high standard for future Regimental Nights was set.

OFFICERS OF GIRLS' BATTALION

Majors, Carolyn Stevens, Evangeline DeLorme, Dorothy Blennerhassett, Dorothy Mountain.

Captains, Alice Kilmartin, Cora Allard, Vasil Petropoulos, Sarah Hill Pearson, Gertrude M. Spillane, Mary Bassett, Jessica Allen, Margaret Foye, Jane O'Connor, Frances Cannon, Alberta Colby, Annabelle Virtue, Anna Cavanaugh, Evelyn Cooke, Doris Ingalls, Evelyn Patenaude.

Adjutants, Frances Hall, Gladys Mooney, Sylvia Leshinskey, Arlene Warren.

Lieutenants, Dorothy Chambers, Ora Park, Ruth Brennan, Janice Farmer, Ellen Clancy, Evelyn Irons, Edith Kirk, Norma Nelson, Dorice Wilde, Jeannette Rouselle, Marjorie Gurney, Virginia Weeks, Mary Hylan, Rhea Cohen, Virginia Hilton, Ethel Callahan.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL BAND

THE BAND

The Lowell High School Band was organized in 1921 by a high school student, Fred Laite, then a member of the old fife and drum corps. Laite, collected about fifteen boys who could play band instruments. With the permission of the school and of Major Kittredge, he started the band on what has proved a successful career. After the organization, Laite was appointed Chief Musician with the rank of Lieutenant. He was succeeded the following year by Lieutenant Melvin Shamas.

Soon after the band was placed in charge of Lieutenant Shamas, the School Committee voted to supply an instructor for the band. Mr. John J. Giblin was named for the position. At the same time, the School Committee appropriated $1400 for the purchasing of instruments. Mr. Giblin began his work by calling for boys who wished to join the band or who cared to learn something of instrumental music. The first rehearsals were held in the boiler room of the old annex on Paige Street. Later the headquarters were transferred to the building known as the "coop." When the new High School building was opened in the fall of 1922, the band was furnished with a room to serve as office and instrument room. In the new school, better quarters were found for rehearsals. After new instruments were furnished, the membership increased considerably as there were many boys who wished to join the band but did not own instruments.

In the school year 1924-25 the band really came into its own. In the spring of 1924, after the band had gained much popularity both in and out of school, it commenced an earnest and successful campaign for a larger membership. This campaign consisted of a series of concerts given in the various Grammar and Junior High Schools, throughout the city. The results were very gratifying; the organization in the fall was much stronger and more active. During the football season, the band began playing at the games which were held in Lowell, and also went to the Haverhill and Lawrence games which were held out of town. This proved to be of great benefit to the team by increasing the spirit and enthusiasm of our pupils. On the night before Christmas, the band gave a concert in the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. After this concert, the band presented Mr. Giblin with a loving cup and a solid gold watch chain. In the spring, the band went to Boston to compete in the New England School Band Festival. Although the band did not win first prize, it was voted the best there. At about the same time the band gave a concert and dance. The concert was held in the Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium. Abdon Laus, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, assisted the band with saxophone solos. The dance, held in Coburn Hall after the concert, was a huge success. During the year the membership of the organization grew very rapidly until it reached sixty.

Raymond McKittrick succeeded Melvin Shamas as the leader of the new band. Under "Ray's" leadership the band progressed rapidly. It soon received an invitation to play at the Middlesex County Teachers' Convention at Tremont Temple, Boston. The fine concert that was given brought many invitations to play at other places.

GIRLS' GYM NIGHT

On Friday night, March 26, 1926, or the first time in the history of the school the Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium was the scene of the annual demonstration of physical education by the girls of the school. The stage of the auditorium proved fully adequate to hold the various battalions in their drills and dances, and the seating arangements were vastily superior to the former place of holding the event—The Annex. Every one sat in a comfortable seat, rather than on bleachers. The audience, despite the stormy night, was a large one, practically 1800 parents, pupils, and friends being present. The program was the most varied ever presented at the school on such an occasion, and included many novel numbers.

Miss Frances R. H. Leggat, director of physical education at the school, was in charge of the evening's program and she was assisted by Miss Bawita Lawler and Miss Marion M. Ryan. Miss Ruth Boulger was the pianist, and Frederick O. Blunt led the High School orchestra, which played at intervals during the evening.

The program opened with general assembly followed by a demonstration of Swedish exercises by the freshman. A set of four dances by the freshman followed, including an interpretive dance, "Little Gossips," athletic dance and "Rig-a-jig," These dances were well contrasted, and the members of the class in their green bows looked most attractive.

The sophomores under the direction of Major Dorothy Blennerhassett did the traditional dumbbell drill with precision, this class wearing middies with blue bows for hair and neck. Then came a "clapping one-step" dance peppily done by members of the junior class, followed by a clog dance by the sophomores. As the climax of this dance, Miss Grace Healy of the class of 1928 did a solo clog that was professional in finish and grace.

One of the most attractive numbers on the program was the march and sword drill by the officers, directed by Miss Leggat. Their fine appearance combined with the elaborate movements of the drill elicited much applause. A wand drill by the sophomores led by Miss Dorothy Mountain was the next attractive feature.

A group of sophomores in the next number gave a butterfly dance that was reminiscent of the Braggiotti Sisters' appearance here some time ago. It was gracefully done. Then a mazurka by the junior class was full of life, by contrast.

The usual, but always interesting Indian club drill, given by a large group of juniors under the direction of Majors Caroline Stevens and Evangeline DeLorme, was one of the elaborate events of the evening and was unusually well done.

A new offering was a series of stunts with the customary gym, apparatus, stunts which included several comedy features not on the program. The girls did very well with this work, which calls for considerable acrobatic ability

Miss Jessica Allen gave a scarf dance, which was very graceful. A group of officers next did a military dance that was colorful and different. The closing number was a set of relay-games by all four classes. The juniors scored the most points.

LOWELL 7 — HAVERHILL 7

Battered, crippled, exhausted, yet fighting like mad-men Lowell held Haverhill to a 7-7 tie at the Haverhill stadium. The game will go down as one of the gamest battles ever waged by a Lowell team. Twice Lowell, fighting in the very shadow of the goal post, thrust back the hard-running Haverhill backfield, the second stand being one of the greatest exhibitions of courage ever seen at the stadium.

Lowell presented a line-up composed mostly of criples. The majority of the boys were playing on their nerve alone. Early in the second quarter, Fate dealt Lowell a hard blow, when "Joe" Reynolds suffered a broken leg.

Captain Ryan, in his last game of football was a bulwark of strength, and tore gaping holes in the enemy's line. Like the great leader he was, he instilled in his men the greatest fighting spirit displayed by a Lowell team for many a day.

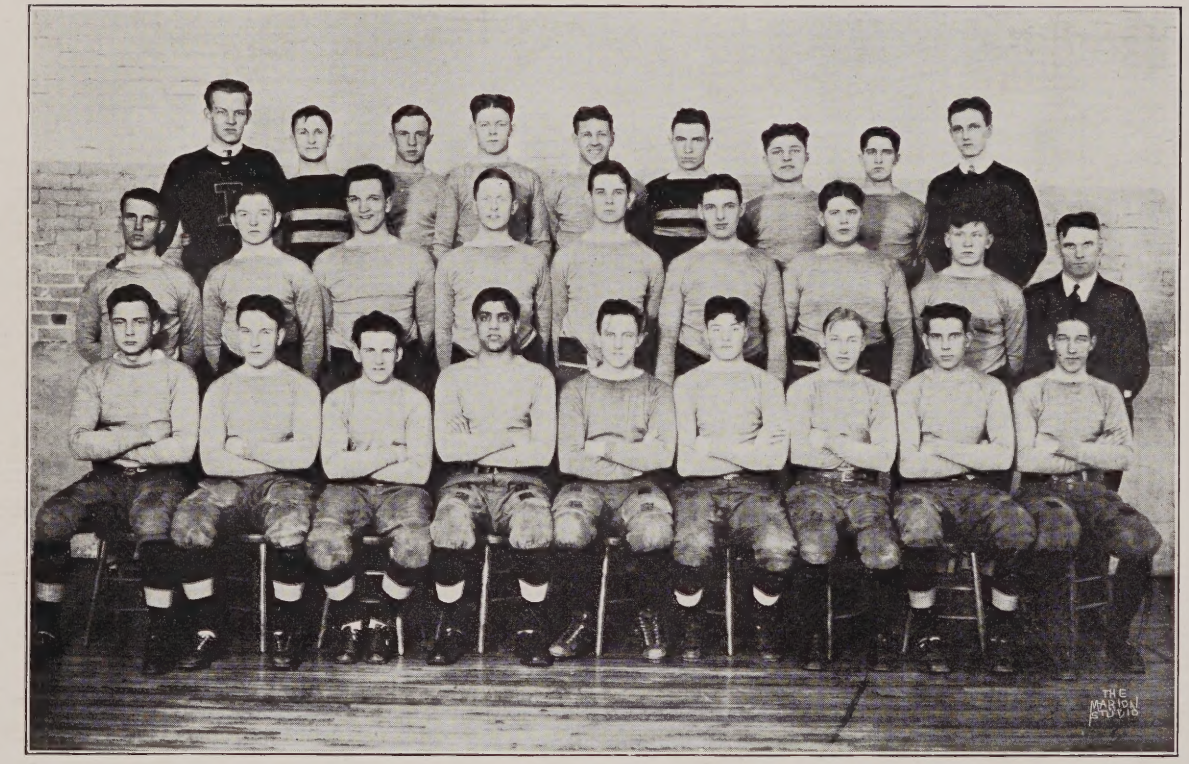
In the first period, after an exchange of kicks, Haverhill worked the ball to Lowell's five yard line, being greatly aided by penalties. On the first play of the second period, McManmon tackled Horton so hard that he dropped the ball. Allard scooped it up and with Vinal giving interference, ran 60 yards before Fontaine, the last defender of the Haverhill goal line, brought him down.

Lowell made another first down on Haverhill's 20 yard line. On this play Reynolds was stopped by Mulicle. When the pile was cleared, "Joey" was stretched out with his left leg broken in two places. He was carried from the field by his team mates, while both stands arose and cheered him for his valiant efforts. Allard's futile attempt at a field goal ended Lowell's drive and the half ended with the ball on Lowell's thirty-five with the score nothing to nothing.

In the third period, by using the "Minnesota shift" to a great extent, Lowell worked the ball down to Haverhill's 38 yard line. From a variation of this same shift, Allard seized the ball and broke through to the Haverhill secondary defense. There he cleverly reversed his field and ran diagonally across the thirty-five remaining yards for the first touchdown of the game. He then drop-kicked the extra point.

At this point Fontaine, Haverhill's great Captain, was rushed into the game, and he proved to be Lowell's nemesis, for a few moments later he caught Vinal's punt on his own five yard line and dashed 95 yards through the entire Lowell team for the touchdown. Towne kicked the goal from placement making the score 7 all.

There are instances in the history of every nation, where groups as well as individuals, when facing the supreme test, have risen far above the power they are thought to possess. This is the only logical explanation for the long-to-be-remembered stand the wonderful Lowell team made when, late in the closing chapter, Haverhill secured a first down on Lowell's two yard line. On the first play, Browne made about half a yard. Then Fontaine gained a yard around the end, Browne then hit the center, but gained only a few inches. It was then fourth down with the ball resting but four inches from the goal line. The great Fontaine himself took the ball, but Lowell's gallant Gibraltar-like trio, Brosnan, Ryan, and Ogaspian, rose in their might and successfully thrust back the Haverhill captain. Where before he had travelled 95 yards with seeming ease, he now failed to gain those four precious inches. After an exchange of kicks, and a few incompleted forward passes, the great game ended in a glorious 7-7 tie.



OUR FOOTBALL TEAM

LOWELL 7 — LAWRENCE 41

After outplaying Lawrence in the first half of the annual Thanksgiving day game at Alumni field, the Lowell team blew higher than a kite. Lowell was so completely demoralized in the second half that Lawrence scored almost at will, the final score being Lawrence 41, Lowell 7.

Without the steadying voice of the late Captain Ryan to spur them on, the strain proved too much and in the crisis they faltered and fell and were pursued relentlessly by the ancient enemy. In the first half Lowell played good football and at half time held a 7-6 lead; but in the second half everything went wrong. Lawrence scored 35 more points, thus administering the worst defeat that Lowell has ever received at her hands.

Lowell's touchdown came as a result of McManmon's recovery of a Lawrence fumble on the 35 yard line and his running with it to the 20 before being downed. A forward from Vinal to Allard made a first down on the eight. Allard made two, Vinal four, Reilly one, and then on the last down Allard went through center for the touchdown. Lowell was awarded the extra point, as half the Lawrence team came through before the ball was passed. Hewitt scored Lawrence's first touchdown early in the second period of the game running Vinal's punt back 37 yards to Lowell's fifteen yard line.

Hewitt scored again at the start of the second half, and then began the rout. Lawrence scored time after time as Lowell made mistake after mistake. In the midst of the carnage there were two Lowell men, Brosnan and Allard, who did their best to stop the overwhelming tide of defeat. Brosnan used his efforts to keep the Lowell line fighting. In the final bitter stages Allard, the only regular in the backfield, the weight of the burden on his shoulders, fought to make Lowell's defeat a little less bitter.

OUR BASKETBALL TEAM

JOSEPH SHARKEY

BASKETBALL

Under the inspiring leadership of Capt. Sharkey, the 1926 basketball team came through with sweeping victories over her ancient enemies. Lawrence was decisively beaten in a three-game series, and Haverhill was also beaten twice. The Lowell team "split even" in their series with Nashua, while Fitchburg won both games and the single game played with Manchester was won by that team.

OUR TRACK TEAM

LOWELL 42 — LAWRENCE 35

In the last dual meet of the season at the annex, Lowell High fought its way to a glorious 42 to 35 victory over its ancient enemy.

Lawrence came up the river confident of defeating Lowell, but Lowell's fighting spirit could not be denied.

Lowell jumped into an early lead when Trull won the dash in 3.7 seconds with Cunningham beating Gay of Lawrence at the tape for second.

As was expected, Hewitt won the 1000 yard run, although St. Lawrence of Lowell ran a great race. He jumped Hewitt unexpectedly on the sixth lap, after which Hewitt passed him and held his lead into the tape.

Lawrence took the first places in the high jump when Robinson and Janis tied at 5 feet, 9 inches. Captain Vinal of Lowell was third with 5 feet 8 inches. The bar was then placed at six feet and Robinson sailed over on his first try.

"Chris" Sophos of Lowell broke his own record in the broad jump with a pretty leap of 9 feet, 5¼ inches.

The final heat of the 300 yard run found Gay on the pole and Lee of Lawrence next, with Emerson and Trull of Lowell third and fourth. Gay and Lee were the first two men around the first bank, with Emerson third. The race finished in this order.

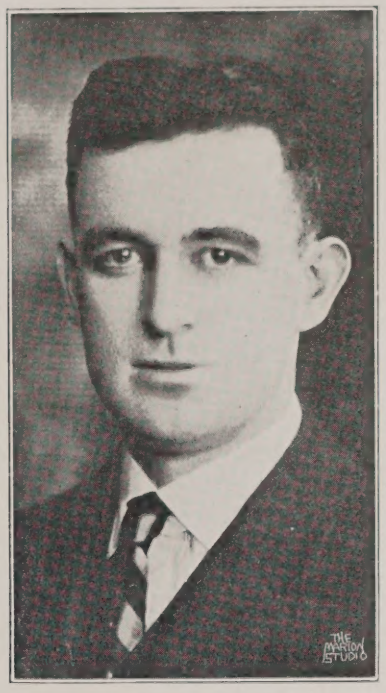
Flanagan and Vinal upset the "dope" in the shot put when they defeated Tremblay of Lawrence, who was expected by the Lawrence fans to win the event. Flanagan came through with a nice put of 41 feet, ¼ inch.

Lowell fared better in the hurdles than was expected. In the final, Cadogan proved too fast for Lowell and took first with Gleason and Larabee, second and third respectively.

In the 600 yard run Lawrence placed their hope on Donohue and Hewitt. However, "Dickie" Harrington of Lowell took the first bank and sped around the track with consistent speed. It looked as though Phelps had a chance for second, but Donohue of Lawrence passed on the fourth lap and finished about nine yards behind Harrington.

This left the relay to decide the meet. Reilly, Lowell's lead off man took the first bank and led Lee of Lawrence a merry chase finishing six yards ahead of him. Fawcett, the next Lowell man increased the lead to eleven yards and Burns kept up the good work and handed Emerson, our anchor man, a 20 yard lead, which he kept increasing and when Gay, the Lawrence runner stumbled, it was easy for Emerson to coast home, the winner.

OUR RECORD BREAKING RELAY TEAM



COACH HAGGERTY

Mr. Haggerty is the man who is directly responsible for the great showing Lowell High School Track Teams have made in the past. He has been coach of track for nine years and his percentage of victories is very high. We sincerely hope his success will continue.

The Lowell High School Track Team went through the season without being beaten in a dual meet. Such strong teams as Brockton and St. John's Prep. fell before the class of Lowell boys, while Lawrence was also ground in the dust. The team is coached by George Haggerty, who has for nine years been turning out first class teams at Lowell. While perhaps the team of '26 does not quite come up to that of '24, nevertheless Coach Haggerty may well feel proud of his accomplishments. In the State meet in Boston Lowell scored 16 points and finished in third place, being but one point behind Boston English, the winner, and but ½ point behind Lynn English who finished second.

GOLF

In the year 1922, Marshall Forrest formed what is now know as the Lowell High Golf Team. With Marshall acting as captain and Mr. Conway as manager, Lowell's first season in golf proved to be very successful. Lowell lost only one game.

Since 1922, Lowell has been building up that team little by little. Today it has one of the best teams in the State, if not in New England.

Out of twenty or more games that Lowell has played in its three years, it has been defeated but three times. To Phillips Academy in Exeter, New Hampshire goes the honor of being the only secondary school in New England that has taken Lowell's measure in this sport. For three years Lowell's team has travelled to Exeter and for three years it has been sent home defeated.

Last year Charles D. A. Grasse Jr., was Captain and this year he again holds the same position. Charles Howard plays second to Grasse on the team. This is Charlie's fourth year at the game. The third veteran of last year's team is Jack Healey. Jack will probably be Captain next year as both Grasse and Howard are graduating this June.

The team is composed of either five or six players. Last year there were about ten men fighting for positions.

SCIENCE CLUB

President: Frank Early

Vice President: John Higgins Secretary: Howard Crosby

Treasurer: James Hallett Faculty Adviser: Mr. James F. Conway

The Science Club was organized in nineteen hundred and twenty-two.

The purpose of the club is to promote a greater interest in Science among the High School students.

Through the earnest endeavors of this year's president, Frank Early, the Science Club has had the most successful year of its career. The club visited many industrial plants where science plays an important part. In addition to these trips, the club was responsible for presenting several moving-picture programs free of charge to the students.

As a climax to the aforementioned achievements, the club brought to the Lowell High students some of the most prominent physicists, chemists and science lecturers in the United States, who performed some very interesting experiments.

The officers of this wonderful organization, deserve a great deal of credit for making the past year a year of successful achievement and service.

SPANISH CLUB

President: Edward Couture

First Vice-Pres.: Wendell Sinclair Treasurer: Anthony Cunha

Second Vice-Pres.: Evangeline DeLorme Secretary: Lucy McLaughlin

Faculty Adviser: Mr. Edwin B. Cornell

Prior to nineteen hundred and twenty the students studying Spanish in Lowell High School formed a society similar to the Spanish Club. When Mr. Cornell assumed the position of supervisor of the Spanish department, he re-organized the society and gave it its present name.

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to form a firmer band of unity between the members of the Spanish Classes and to arouse interest in the Spanish Language.

The schedule of 1925-26 was successfully carried out. The club's first social was attended by over two hundred and fifty pupils. Many new members were also enrolled during the past year.

In view of the successful efforts of this organization and the good work which it has done in aiding every student of Spanish by arousing a true interest in his or her work, the Spanish Club is considered one of the foremost organizations of the school.

GREEK CLUB

President: Frank Carey

Vice President: Helen Halloran — Treasurer: Daniel Sullivan

Secretary: Georgia Sarris — Sergeant at Arms: Paul Duggan

Faculty Adviser: Mr. Joseph G. Pyne

The Greek Club was formed in nineteen hundred and twenty-four. All students studying Greek, or Greek and Roman History, are eligible for memberhsip. The club's first adviser was Dr. John Savage, now a professor at Brown University. Last June, he was succeeded by Mr. Joseph Pyne.

This organization's purpose is to promote Greek culture in Lowell High School. Although this organization has not been so active as some of the others in the school, what it has done it has done well. The Club sponsored a very well attended social one afternoon in the middle of February.

At the completion of this year's work, one thing is obvious, that the Greek Club in its quiet way, has served the Lowell High students faithfully and loyally.

Lowell High School Savings System

President: Evelyn Storey First Vice-Pres.: Margaret Donahue
Treasurer: Kathlyn Greeley Second Vice-Pres.: Germaine Chenevert

The Lowell High School Savings System was organized on April 8, 1924 under the guidance of Mr. Edward B. Carney, Treasurer of the Lowell Institution for Savings.

The purpose of the Savings System is two-fold: first to encourage thrift among the students; second, to give the students of the Commercial Department practical experience in the managemant of a financial institution.

The records of the organization show that this year's progress has been very satisfactory, for the number of depositors has been doubled and the amount deposited tripled. These results are surely very gratifying.

As the Lowell High School Savings System has proved a great benefit to the students of Lowell High, we hope that in the future it will continue on its smooth road of success and service.

GREENHALGE DEBATING SOCIETY

President: James Lindquist
First Vice-Pres.: Kenton Speel
Second Vice-Pres.: Irene Harvey
Secretary: Frances Cannon
Sergeant-at-Arms: Gerald Quigley
Moderator: Morton Sturtevant

The Greenhalge Debating Society, the oldest organization in the school, celebrates its seventieth anniversary this June. The achievements of this year's society indicate that this event has been properly observed.

For the first time in the history of the city an intercollegiate debate has been held in Lowell, an event worthy of commendation. Also, classes in Parliamentary Law have been started this year by the officers of this organization.

ANNUAL BOARD

ANNUAL

We, as the first Year Book Board, realize that we have had to shoulder a great responsibility in producing the first publication of this kind in the Lowell High School. With no accomplishments of other boards from which to get ideas, and with no precedents to follow, we have found our work doubly hard. When, at the beginning of the school year, we were appointed, we had not the slightest idea of the colossal task that lay before us. Before many weeks had gone by, however, we realized that the Board had not been nominated soon enough, and that, in order to be able to complete the book in time, we should have to work fast. Concerning this last requirement, we feel perfectly justified in saying that every member of the Board responded willingly, putting in every spare minute on the work in hand. As a result of all this hustle and bustle, you now have before you, not a work that consumed ample time in its creation, but one that had to be made the maximum of quality in a minimum of time; in brief, practically a rush job.

We beg of you, our readers, that bearing this in mind, you will not criticize this book too harshly, and hope that you will feel some measure of satisfaction in our offering. In conclusion we wish to thank each and every one of our readers and helpers for his share in aiding in the production of the first Year Book that the Lowell High School has known.

CHARLES HANCOCK
Valedictorian

Charles Hancock, son of Mrs. Charles Hancock of 71 Clare street, was chosen valedictorian in view of practically a perfect record. He is a student in the college course and besides his proficiency in scholarship has been prominent in other school activities. He was graduated from the Bartlett Junior High School in 1924.

MISS HELEN PEARSON
Salutatorian

The salutatory honors this year went to Miss Helen Pearson, who achieved the same rating as C. Hancock in the Normal School course. Miss Pearson is the daughter of Raymond E. Pearson, of 120 Durant street, and during her school life, has been an active member of several clubs and other interests. She is a product of the Varnum Junior High School.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We, mindful of the many and varied duties which fill every school day, acknowledge gratefully the assistance so generously given to us by members of the faculty and student body.

Particularly do we wish to extend our gratitude to Mr. Morton A. Sturtevant, Head of the English Department, who personally criticized the bulk of the copy and made many valuable suggestions.

We are also indebted to Mr. Beach and the Commercial Council for their splendid work in preparing typewritten copy.

It is impossible to express our gratitude to those who have assisted us without being reminded of the generous service rendered by our Faculty Advisor, Mr. Joseph M. Donoghue. His work was of a tiresome, tedious nature, but he gladly went about it, in a manner which only he possesses, and made the work of the board a pleasure, by his many helpful suggestions.

To all who have contributed in any way to the contents of this volume we are deeply grateful.

The Manifold Uses of Gas will play a most important part in the after-lives of every graduate of the Class of 1926. Here are a few of the uses you will make of it.

THE NEW GAS RANGE WITH THE OVEN HEAT REGULATOR takes all the worry out of baking and roasting. Light the gas, put in the food, go away and let it bake or roast. The automatic regulator will do the rest.

THE GAS RADIANTFIRE will throw its warming health-giving rays from your fireplace to heat and brighten up your living-room.

THE AUTOMATIC HOT WATER HEATER will give you steaming hot water whenever you want it and will demand practically no attention from you.

THE GAS-FIRED BOILER
will give you maximum comfort and convenience in heating your home. It is safe, dependable, automatic.

High School Graduates

We are particularly interested in enrolling the clean-cut, upstanding type of man of pleasing personal appearance, fine character, and an abundance of common sense and ambition. Quality is far more important than the number of students enrolled.

To Be Bentley-Trained Carries Prestige in Business.

The demand today is for specialists. The success of our graduates proves that we meet this demand. The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, the largest professional school of college grade in the world devoted exclusively to the training of accountants, offers an intensive two-year course which qualifies its graduates for the duties of office manager, auditor, cost accountant, comptroller, credit manager, and public accountant.

A high school training or its equivalent is required for admission
